

Holocaust memoryscapes in 21st century Poland<sup>1</sup>

Jewish cemetery in Kazimierz Dolny. Holocaust Memorial Wall (Wailing Wall) designed by Tadeusz Augustynek (1919–2009) in 1985. May 2024. ©Olga Kubińska

---

<sup>1</sup> Photographs included here constitute part of the documentation of the article: Olga Kubińska, "Memoryscape. Spatial management of Holocaust memory in 21 century Poland". Forthcoming. Monuments commemorating acts of violence committed by Polish neighbours on Jews during the Holocaust, such as the murder of Jews in Jedwabne in 1941 (2001) are still rather infrequent.

Jewish cemetery in Kazimierz Dolny. Beech forest. May 2024. ©Olga Kubińska

Jewish cemetery in Kazimierz Dolny. View from the street. May 2024. ©Olga Kubińska

Jewish cemetery in Kazimierz Dolny. Stele with a contemporary plaque commemorating the visit of Karen Rogozinski from Israel, a descendant of the members of local Jewish community exterminated in 1942. May 2024. ©Olga Kubińska

Zbąszyń – view of Senatorska street with Stolpersteine commemorating Jewish citizens of the town exterminated in the Holocaust. In 2020 eleven Stolpersteine were set in Zbąszyń streets. July 2023. ©Olga Kubińska Stolpersteine in Zbąszyń commemorating the Wajman family from Senatorska 25 Street, deported and exterminated during the Holocaust: Mira Wajman (1939–?), Jakob Abraham Wajman (1931–?), Szmul Wajman (1898–?), Vera Luisa Wajman (1907–?), and Arnold Wajman (1933–?). July 2023.

©Olga Kubińska

Commemorative stone from 1992 on the site of the Jewish cemetery destroyed in 1939. July 2023.

©Olga Kubińska

Model of the Great Synagogue in Gdańsk, built in 1887 and demolished in 1939, along with a fragment of the outline of the synagogue. In the background contemporary Gdańsk Shakespeare Theatre

Kindertransport monument in Gdańsk, designed by Frank Meisler, born in the Free City of Danzig (1925–2018), erected in 2009. April 2024. ©Olga Kubińska

Kindertransport monument in Gdańsk. Detail. April 2024. ©Olga Kubińska

Jewish cemetery in Gdańsk–Chelm. October 2022. ©Olga Kubińska

Jewish cemetery in Gdańsk–Chelm. Fragment of preserved matzevah with animal motif. October 2022. ©Olga Kubińska Holocaust Victims Memorial Site in Nowy Sącz, designed by Paweł Kurzeja and erected in 2022 thanks to the efforts of inter alia Dariusz Popiela and “People, Not Numbers” Foundation. Entrance.

July 2024. ©Olga Kubińska

Holocaust Victims Memorial Site in Nowy Sącz. Interior. July 2024. ©Olga Kubińska

Outline of ghetto walls in Nowy Sącz. July 2024. ©Olga Kubińska

Outline of ghetto walls in Warsaw. August 2024. ©Olga Kubińska